Micro-surgical Endodontics: From planning to execution

Adham Abdel Azim

Director of the Post-Graduate Program at University of the Pacific

This one-day course is designed to provide participants with the ability to learn all about micro-endodontic surgery. Starting from how to select and organize the appropriate armamentarium to make the procedure quick and smooth, all the way to treatment planning for a predictable treatment outcome. In this course, participants will be able to perform endodontic surgery on a mannequin model using current endodontic armamentarium. They will incise and reflect simulated gingiva, make osteotomy, apicoectomy, retro-preparation and retro-filling followed by suturing.
